TINTIN ET LA LUNE - OBJECTIF LUNE ET ON A MARCHÉ SUR LA LUNE

HERGÉ

On the occasion of the 90th anniversary of Tintin and the 60th anniversary of the first step on the Moon, Tintin's two iconic volumes combined in a double album.

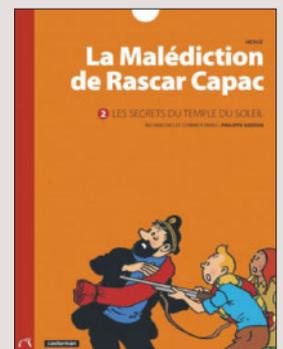

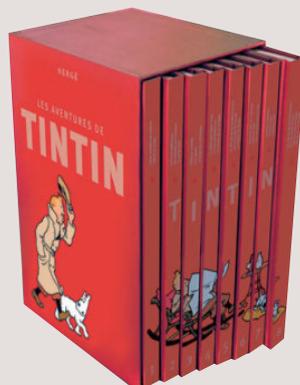

In Syldavia, Professor Calculus develops its motor atomic lunar rocket and is preparing to leave for the Moon. But mysterious incidents undermine this project: the test rocket is diverted, an attempt to steal plans occurs... Who is hiding behind this? And will the rocket be able to take off? We find our heroes aboard the first lunar rocket. But the flight is far from easy: besides the involuntary presence of Thompson and Thomson (which seriously limits the oxygen reserves), saboteurs are also on board. Will the rocket be back on Earth in time?

MASTERS OF COMICS

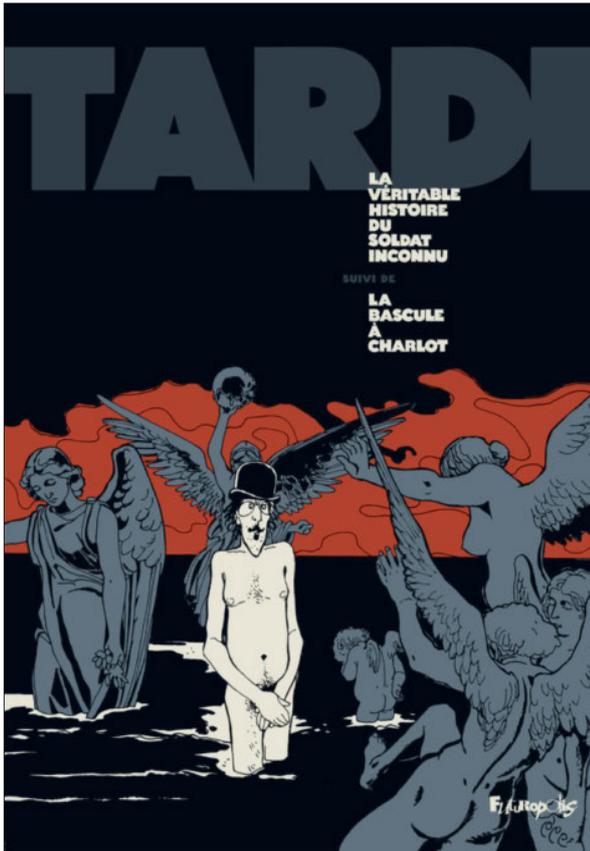

BLACK AND WHITE EDITION :

HUGO PRATT

LA VÉRITABLE HISTOIRE DU SOLDAT INCONNU

TARDI

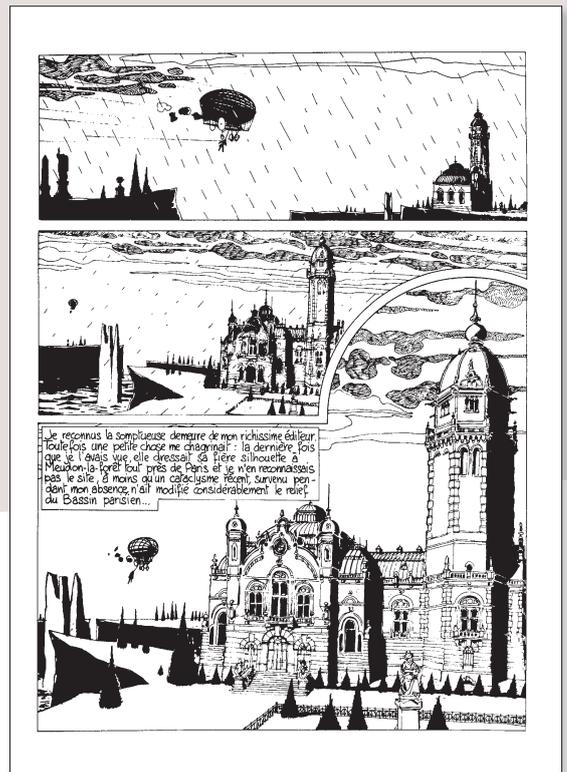

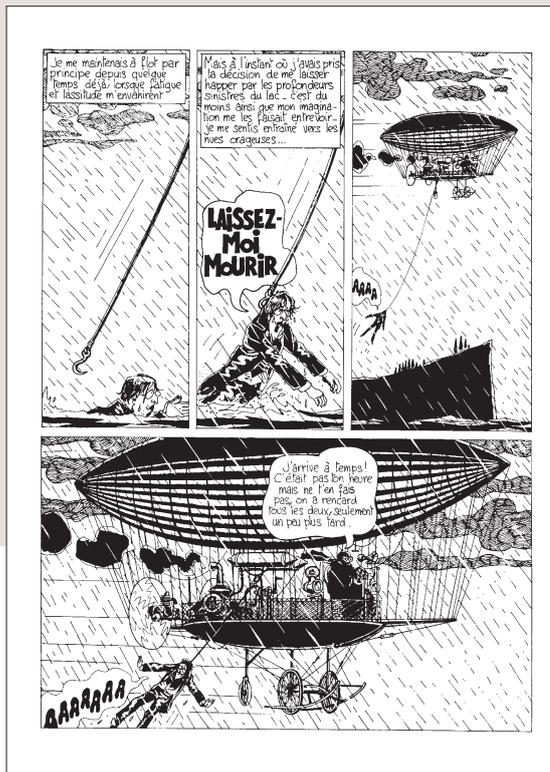

Don't miss this reprint of two hard-hitting, outspoken stories by one of contemporary comics' major creators.

Buried on November 11, 1918 under the Arc de Triomphe, author of simplistic and distressing adventure novels, considered a 'douche' by his trench companions, this is in Tardi's eyes who was the unknown soldier!

He immerses this anti-hero into a nightmarish delirium. The man who has spent his life creating despicable, unhealthy and harmful characters to please the public and satisfy his publisher, is bound to meet them. Confrontations, sometimes tinged with dark humor, are always violent and painful. This dreamlike story of a haunting narrative force, with a powerful and sumptuous design, is an essential piece of Tardi's work. Tardi opted to pair the piece with The National Razor, a screed against capital punishment written around the same time in his life.

MOI RENÉ TARDI, PRISONNIER DE GUERRE AU STALAG IIB - VOL. 3

TARDI

With this third and last volume, Tardi closes the paternal narrative and opens a door on his childhood. A funny and touching story that incorporates small chronicles of historical events of the time but also expresses the impossible dialogue between two generations at the end of the war.

NESTOR BURMA - INTÉGRALE NOIR ET BLANC

TARDI / MALET / BARRAL

Nestor Burma, the detective who knocks out mystery, was adapted by Tardi from noir, hardboiled novels by Leo Malet. Inspired by US characters such as Sam Spade or Philip Marlow, Burma brings humour and nonchalance to the classic detective figure.

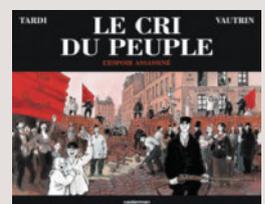

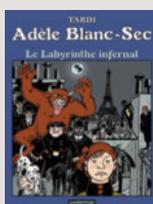

This deluxe black and white edition gathers for the first time the first four albums created by Tardi, at the height of his art.

LES CITÉS OBSCURES : INTÉGRALE - VOL. 4

SCHUITEN / PEETERS

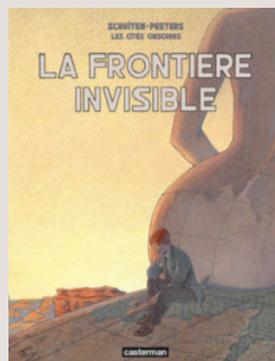

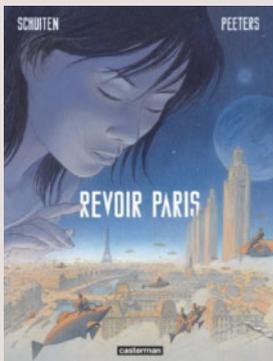

Jointly created by François Schuiten and Benoît Peeters in 1982, Les Cités obscures series has become a cult favourite. In four volumes, this complete collection brings together each title within a broader narrative, itself structured around the Guide des Cités, as well as a significant amount of new material, giving both readers and anyone who hasn't yet visited the Cities the opportunity to not only see Samaris, Urbicande, Calvani and Pâhry in all their glory, but also appreciate the intricate craftsmanship that shapes the obscure world.

LES COULOIRS AÉRIENS

ETIENNE DAVODEAU / CHRISTOPHE HERMENIER / JOUB

Ten years after Lulu femme nue, Etienne Davodeau returns to fiction in color.

Yvan turned 50 this year. When he was younger, he often wondered what he would be like at this age. And now he's reached it. This year, Yvan lost his job and his parents. His wife went to work on the other side of the world. His children have left the nest, which is only normal. So Yvan is understandably a little lost. He's taken refuge in the vacation house of friends, in the mountains, with his clothes, his books and virtually his entire life packed up in a few boxes.

MON PREMIER RÊVE EN JAPONAIS

CAMILLE ROYER

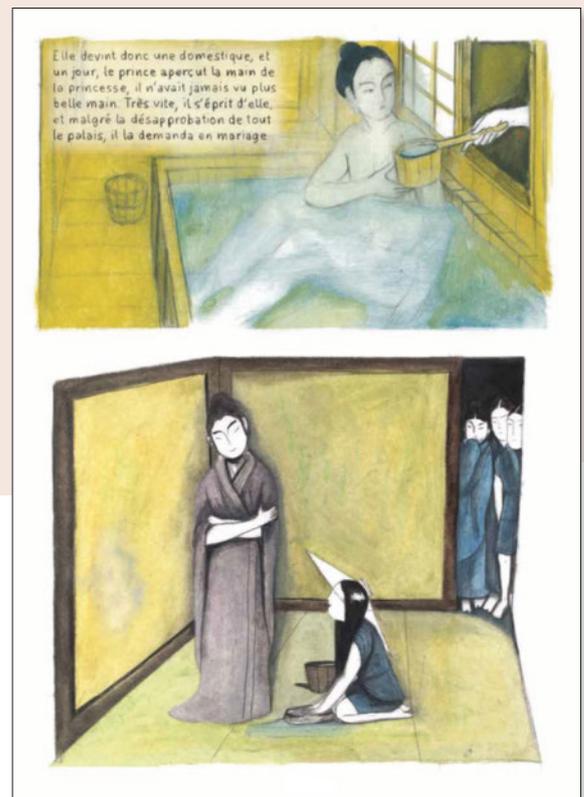

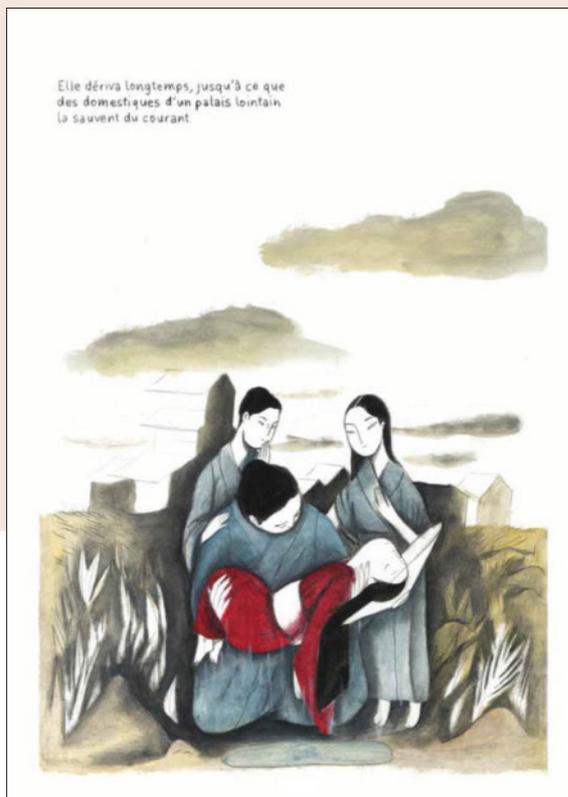

A childhood story set in the heart of Japanese culture.

In this autobiographical account of her early years, Camille Royer explores the weight of memory and the marks that childhood tales and lullabies leave on our imagination. She looks at how a child develops into his own while growing up with two languages and two very different cultures. Camille is eight years old and scared of the dark. At bedtime, her mother, of Japanese origin, sings her a lullaby or tells her a fairytale in Japanese. She teaches her the language of her country. Through the tales she reads her at night Camille becomes truly immersed in this culture and can vaguely sense how uprooted her mother feels. From then on, Camille becomes obsessed with the fear that her mother will return to Japan and never come back.

LA MÉMOIRE DANS LES POCHEs - INTÉGRALE

LUC BRUNSWIG / ETIENNE LE ROUX

Little lies, discreet arrangements, and other family secrets: the intimate story of a family seemingly without problems.

A story without any startling revelations or major, life-changing events. The story of people like so many others, struggling daily in a society to which they try to bring a little humanity and love, in their own small way... until a decision, a lifestyle choice, reveals the hidden face of a family that everyone thought was exemplary and indestructible. A family whose ties are built on lies, omissions, and an idealized relationship between three beings who believe they know each other perfectly well but who, in fact, don't know the first thing about each other.

LES HEURES PASSÉES À CONTEMPLER LA MÈRE

GILLES LARHER / SÉBASTIEN VASSANT

Through the memories, relationships, and the little family that surrounds Sandra, thirty-something and writer, abandoned by her publisher and ex-husband, the authors address the delicate subject of creation and filiation.

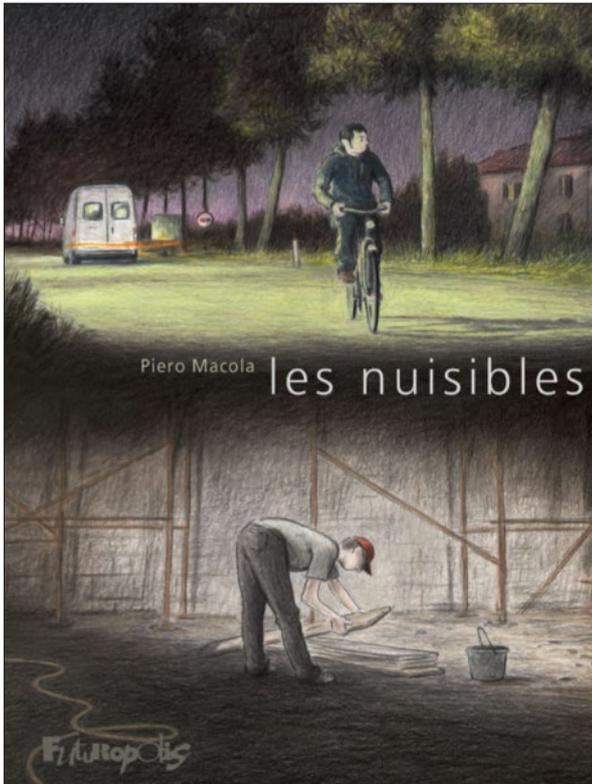

While she had abandoned writing in the hope of becoming a mother, she took up the pen to give birth to the novel that has always lived in her, but that she had not had the courage to tackle so far. The hours spent contemplating the mother. A book where she draws her portrait through that of her missing genitor. A delicate story in the form of a portrait of women.

LES NUISIBLES

PIERO MACOLA

An intimate tale that subtly speaks to the ills of today's society...

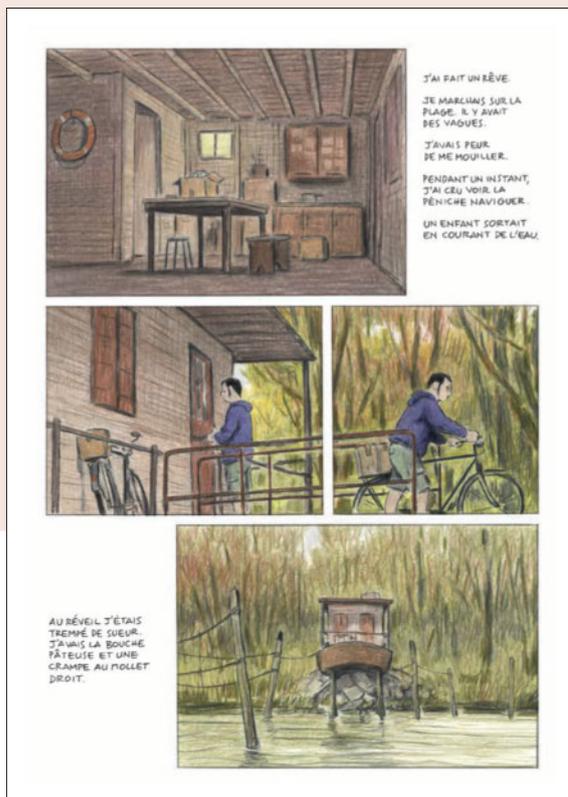

Po Valley, Italy, present day. Bruno lives alone and is obsessed with not making waves, being invisible. He regularly visits Maria who lives alone with her dog in a cabin on the river, since her husband's passing. Maria's daughter is trying to convince her to move in with her to the city to be safe from burglaries and smuggling, that are more and more frequent and blamed on foreigners.

Anton has been in Italy for 9 months, working under the table, living of odd jobs at construction sites. One day, he breaks his leg falling from a scaffold. Instead of taking him to the hospital, he's bundled off to a shelter, where he's covertly treated. But Anton steals their money and runs, hiding out in Maria's cabin...

À LA RECHERCHE DE MOBY DICK

ISAAC WENS / SYLVAIN VENAYRE BASED UPON HERMAN MELVILLE

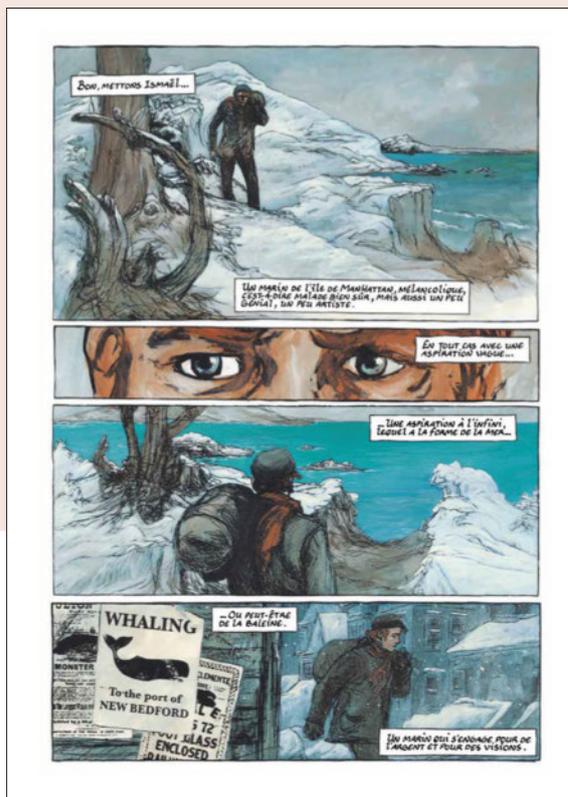

A literary monument revisited on the occasion of the 200th anniversary of Herman Melville's birth.

Moby Dick or the whale, the original title of Melville's work, is not only about Captain Ahab's hunt around the world for the particularly fierce and impressive-sized whale who tore off one of his leg in the past and whose he swore revenge to. Almost half of the book is devoted to something else. The drama lived by Ahab and his crew is first of all to illustrate considerations erudite, moral and zany, about this fantastic animal, and what it represents. Through the journey of his main character, Melville also explores many complex themes that he considers universal: class and social status, Good and Evil, the existence of God and our place in this universe. The product of an eight-year work, À la recherche de Moby Dick is certainly the most innovative and ambitious adaptation of this monument of universal literature!

BOUVAERT - ÉLÉGIE POUR UN ÂNE

SIMON SPRUYT

The biography of a fictional painter searching for fame and glory, but struggling with the torments of creation, disappointed ambitions and the death of loved ones.

Early 17th century, Jan Bouvaert, baroque painter of Antwerp origin, travels to Italy to study the masters of painting. From the court of the Duke of Mantua to his studio in Rome, he develops a personal style, dramatic and sensual, but struggles to achieve fame. A court painter at the mercy of the whims of his patrons, he becomes one of the most prominent painter of Antwerp at the head of a large workshop. His career is punctuated with interrogations about the status of the artist, compromises and ambition. An ironic story about the figure of the Artist, served by a powerful graphic style inspired by the aesthetics of the era treated, with a modern twist.

LE LOUP

JEAN-MARC ROCHETTE

Between Melville (Moby Dick) and Erri de Luca (Le poids du papillon), an epic adventure and an ecological fable that questions the place of man in the animal kingdom.

In the heart of the Ecrins mountains, Gaspard defends his sheep as they graze on the mountain pastures. To do so, he is forced to kill a she-wolf that has been decimating his flock, but he decides to let her cub, which he doesn't see as a threat, live. By the time summer rolls around again, the young animal has become a strong adult wolf hungry for revenge. The battle for force and wits can now begin. Le Loup is a story of shocking intensity out of which we readers will not come out unscathed. Primarily, though, it asks the question: in this wild and hostile mountain environment, which of the two animals is extra baggage: the wolf or the man?

LA FIN DU MONDE EN TRINQUANT

JEAN-PAUL KRASSINSKY

A tragi-comic animal story with a splash of vodka!

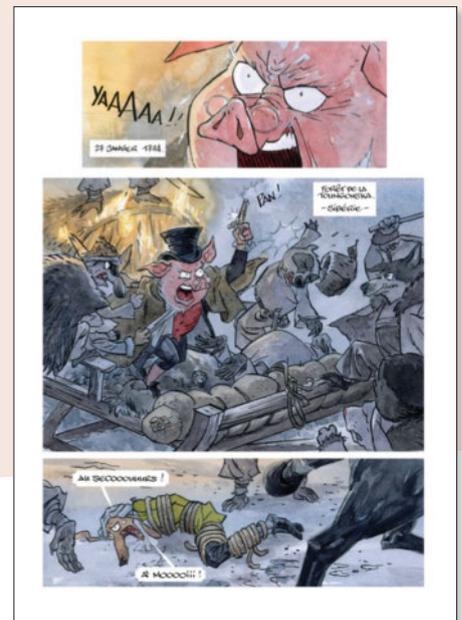

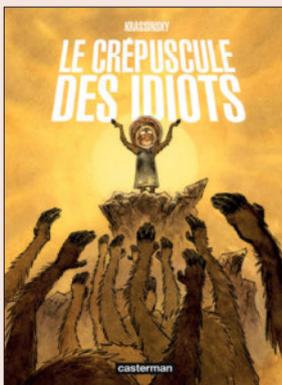

1774. Eminent astronomer working under the reign of Empress Catherine II of Russia, Nikita Petrovich is an irascible and unhealthy pig. Forced to take under his wing Ivan, a crazy dog that is as stupid as clumsy, Nikita makes a terrible discovery through his telescope: a large comet threatens to strike Siberia and could make thousands of victims... Despised by the imperial court, the pig takes the young dog with him for a long journey to the rescue of the inhabitants ignorant of the threat. But nothing is going as planned, and here is the duo kidnapped by a horde of bandits determined to monetize the release of their prisoners... Cruelty, laughter and feelings mingle with subtlety and intelligence in this new story of Jean-Paul Krassinski, as amused as ever by the errors and the paradoxical nature of men...

A captivating story in the tradition of Russian tragi-comic!

SOLO

GILLES ROCHIER

The emotional suffering and questioning after the 2015 Paris terrorist attacks.

Paris, November 13, 2015. Explosions resound near the stadium of France, the Bataclan is stormed, and coffee terraces become battlefields. France wakes up groggy in the face of such a rampage of violence. Stunned, a man decides to buy a trumpet and begins frantically producing incongruous sounds without his family or his best friend Kader understanding anything. A form of mutism in the face of the inconceivable and utter incomprehension. With his new book, Gilles Rochier once again mixes autobiography and fiction, rightly returning to shared suffering that we often struggle to express.

DIDIER, LA 5^e ROUE DU TRACTEUR

PASCAL RABATÉ / FRANÇOIS RAVARD

For their first collaboration, Rabaté and Ravard give us a caustic 'rural romantic comedy' with lively dialogue and warm, tender art.

Didier lives with his sister Soazig on a small farm in Brittany. He's a very unhappy man: at 45 years of age, this Tour de France fan has never known real love. When he goes off to buy a reaper at auction from Régis, a drinking buddy and bankrupt farmer, he comes back without the farm equipment, but with his friend instead. It's love at first sight for Régis and Soazig, who smell sexual liberation on the breeze... Aware of his brother's distress, Soazig posts an ad for him on a dating site, unbeknownst to him. Didier's profile soon gets a bite from the very straightforward 'Coquinette'...

STÉPHANE LEVALLOIS

On the occasion of the great retrospective exhibition on Leonardo Da Vinci in October 2019 at the Louvre Museum, Stéphane Levallois revisits in his own way the life of the Italian Master with this science-fiction story inspired by his drawings.

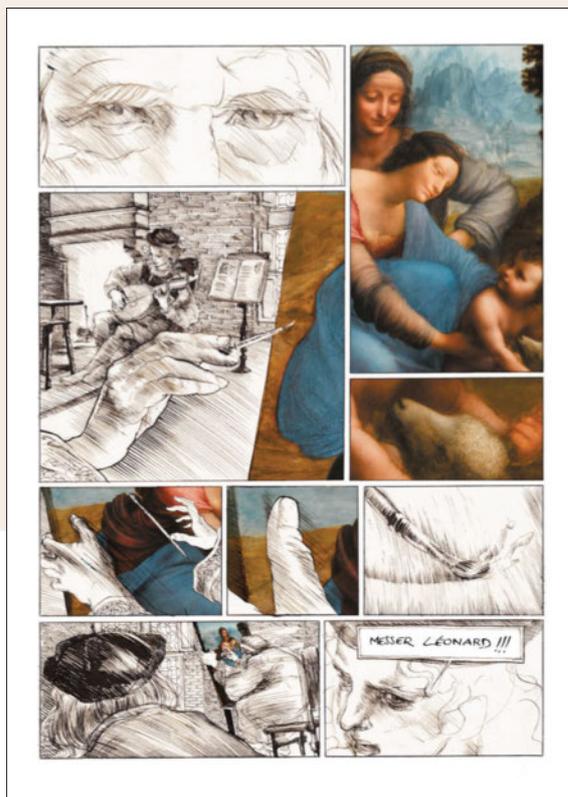

April 15, 14061. Near the Louvre. Aboard the ship, the Renaissance, the last survivors of the human species, tracked from the confines of the cosmos by an alien armed fleet, clone Leonardo Da Vinci from his fingerprint on the surface of the painting La Sainte Anne, the virgin and the baby Jesus. Their goal: to revive the one who was the greatest visionary genius and inventor of all time, so that he can achieve new weapons able to stand up to the enemy armada.

MOON OF THE MOON

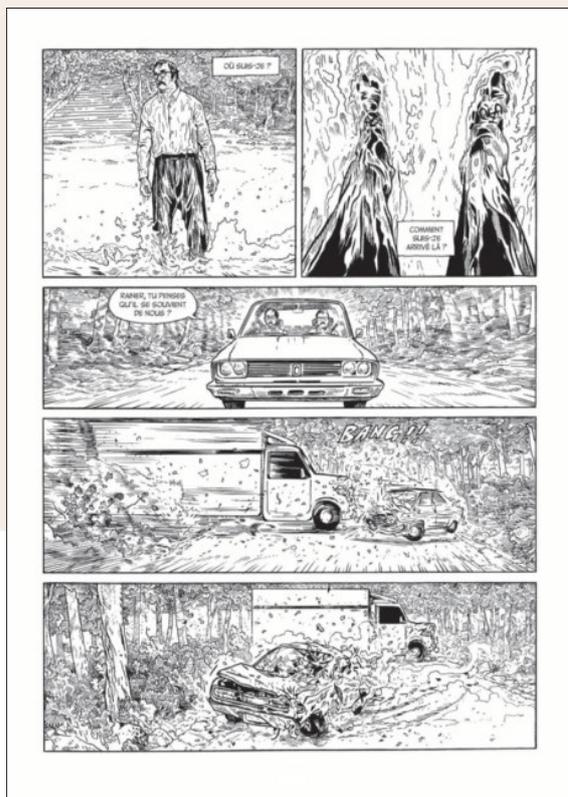

LI CHI TAK

A philosophical story about art and creative expression told with breathtaking graphics.

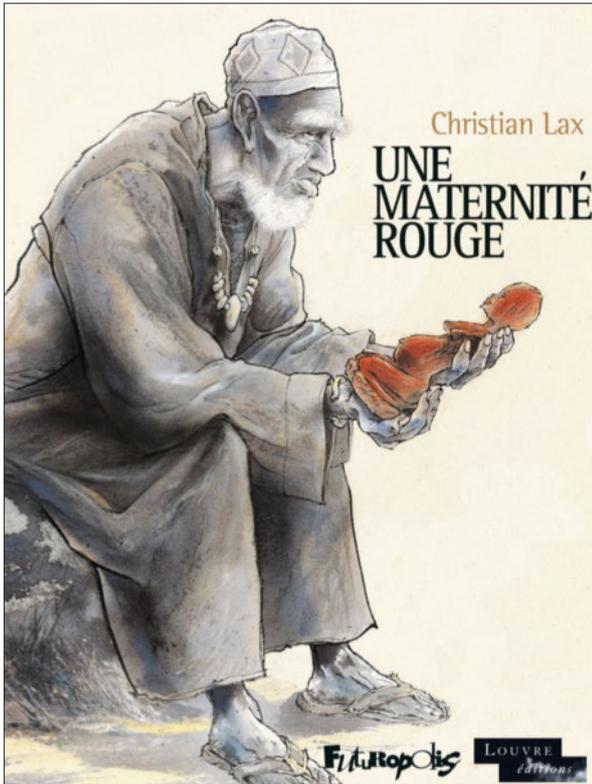

Werner and Rainer are two scientists who once worked on cyborgs that were used as clone warriors for a hawkish dictator with dreams of pushing past the boundaries of human limitations. At the end of the war that saw the collapse of the regime, the cyborgs were dismantled and destroyed. The two men decide to reprogram the last five with the intent to give them a new life that is freer and not tied to war. But, upon being reactivated, the five cyborgs cut off all connections and disappear in a flash. As the two scientists set out to find them, they begin to understand that the cyborgs, instead of being grateful, are turning against them. For as the memories implanted in them infect them like parasites, they question what they will do with their existence. Only one of them, through art and regular visits to the Louvre museum, will manage to find a path toward beauty and try, through painting, to find what it means to be alive...

UNE MATERNITÉ ROUGE

CHRISTIAN LAX

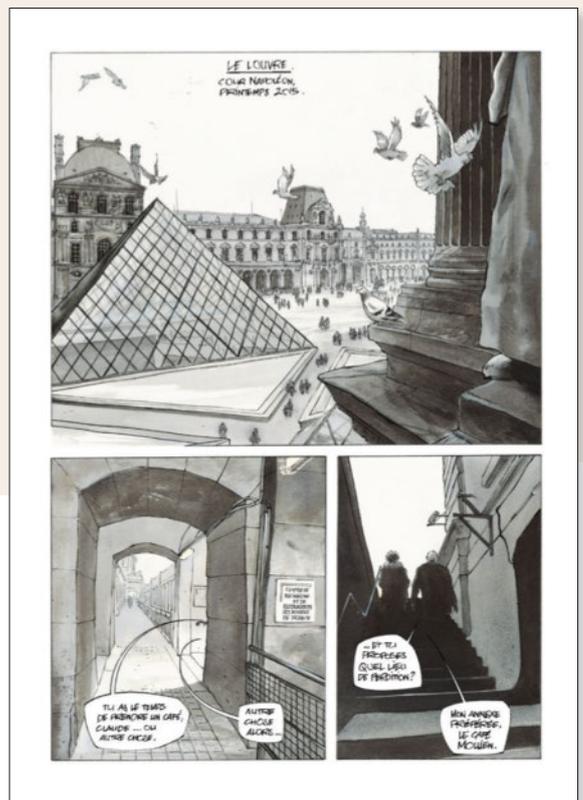

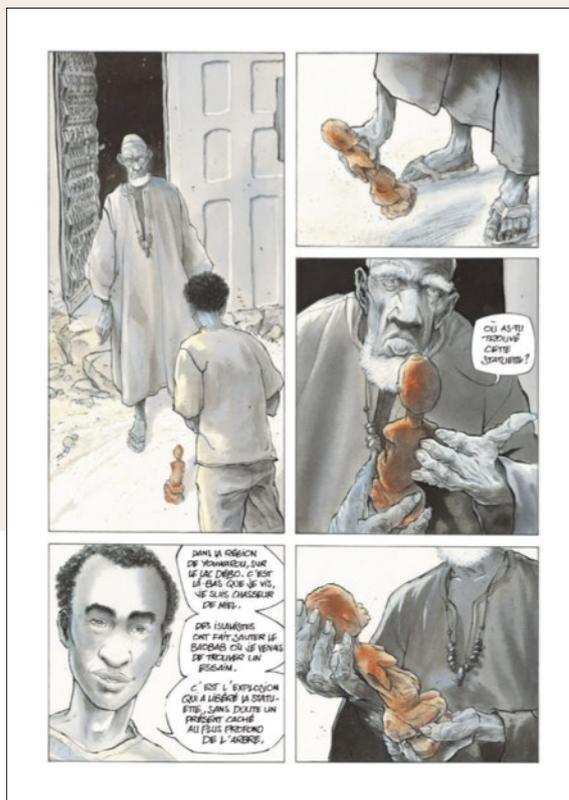

Christian Lax joins the Louvre collection with a polemical tale siding with victims of violence, war, and poverty who are trying to reach our shores in hopes of a better life...

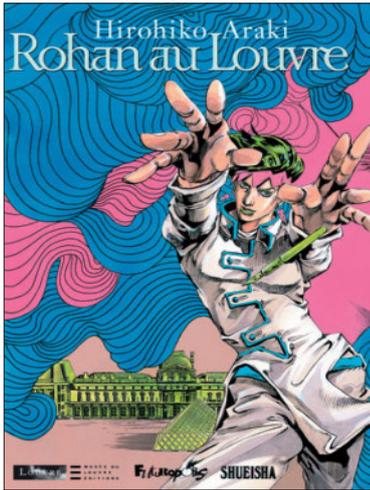

In Mali, a Red mother and Child – a 14th-century sculpture – is saved from the Islamists’ destructive folly by Alou, a young honey hunter. His goal and obsession: to deliver the precious statuette to the Louvre, where for a while at least, it will be safer with its ‘sister’ statue. In pursuit of his goal, this young man will risk anything, crossing seas and deserts in the company of migrants, his brothers and sisters in misfortune. But once in Paris, he is just another undocumented refugee among countless others. How will he enter the Louvre, and who can he trust with the precious statuette?

LE TEMPS DES SAUVAGES

SÉBASTIEN GOETHALS BASED UPON THE NOVEL BY THOMAS GUNZIG

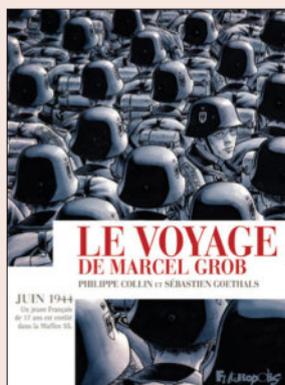

A reissue of the comic strip adaptation of Thomas Gunzig's novel (Manuel de survie à l'usage des incapables) by Sébastien Goethals (Le voyage de Marcel Grob). A story of satirical anticipation that makes us think about our society.

In the not-too-distant future, the consumer society is expanding its hold on all areas of daily life. The living has been privatized and genetic mutations are common. Large industrial groups hold copyrights, especially on genetic «improvements». The human being is genetically modified and endowed with the qualities of certain animals (endurance, fighting spirit) according to their means. In a supermarket, the dismissal of a cashier turns out badly, she dies by accident. Her four sons, whom she has not seen for years, White, Brown, Gray and Black, four young wolves with long teeth who are overtrained and ready to do anything to make themselves a place in the sun, are seeking to punish those responsible for her death. The clash between mass retailers and lone wolves is inevitable.

MILADY OU LE MYSTÈRE DES MOUSQUETAIRES

SYLVAIN VENAYRE / FRÉDÉRIC BIHEL BASED UPON THE NOVEL BY ALEXANDRE DUMAS

What if the real hero of The Three Musketeers was a heroine? A revolutionary take on Alexandre Dumas' novel in comics form by telling the musketeers' story from Milady's point of view.

Taking as their starting point a message Dumas purportedly hid in his novel – a message undiscovered till this day – Venayre and Bihel put a modern spin on the mystery of the Musketeers, that story of manly comradery among D'Artagnan, Athos, Porthos, and Aramis in the time of Louis XIII, long since become a literary legend.

DANS LES FORÊTS DE SIBÉRIE

VIRGILE DUREUIL BASED UPON THE NOVEL BY SYLVAIN TESSON

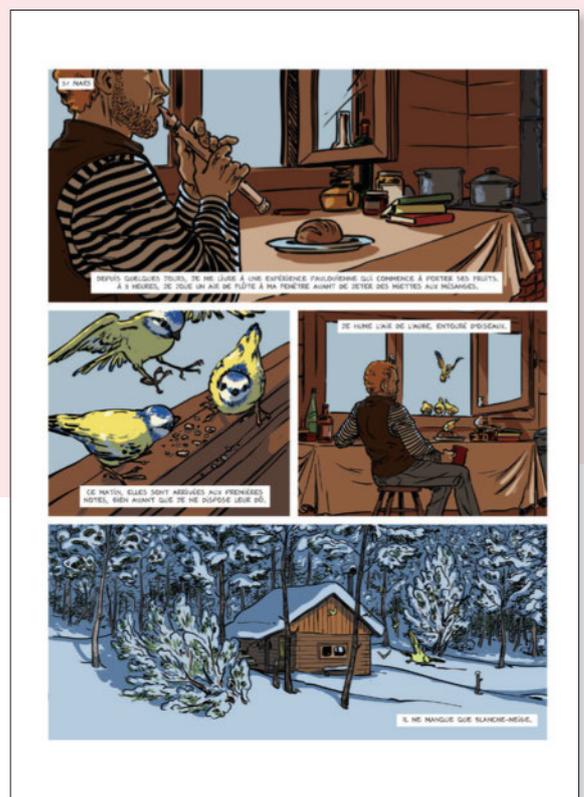

The graphic novel adaptation of Sylvain Tesson's bestselling novel.

Is it possible to completely separate yourself from the world of men? To leave the city and its daily grind behind to go live on the other side of the world? That's the challenge Sylvain Tesson gave himself. From February to July 2010, the writer and traveler chose to experience Siberia from late winter through the spring. He lived alone in a cabin on the shore of Lake Baikal, surrendering to the silence and choosing to live life at a slow pace, surrounded by books, vodka, and memories. Without disturbing nature but while communicating with her via lengthy introspection, Tesson walked, explored, fished, ice skated on the lake and accepted the hospitality of the few neighbors he had.

MENTAWAI

JEAN-DENIS PENDANX / TAHNEE JUGUIN

A unique and deeply humanistic look upon the Mentawai tribe, between testimony and fiction.

Deeply animist, despite a forced assimilation by the successive Indonesian regimes, the Mentawai tribe strives to preserve its secular traditions and pass them on. Mentawai appeared in many films and documentaries over the past few years, earning the money they need to keep their lifestyle. When Tahnee starts documenting her stay with the tribe, they realize they should be involved in the filming, so they can start to manage their own image, while respecting the fundamental principles of their culture. Jean-Denis Pandanx accompanies her during her last stay in the jungle in 2018 and delivers us this profound sensitive story far from the clichés usually conveyed, closer to their daily lives.

DIVINE

EDDY SIMON / MARIE AVRIL

PROVISIONAL VISUAL

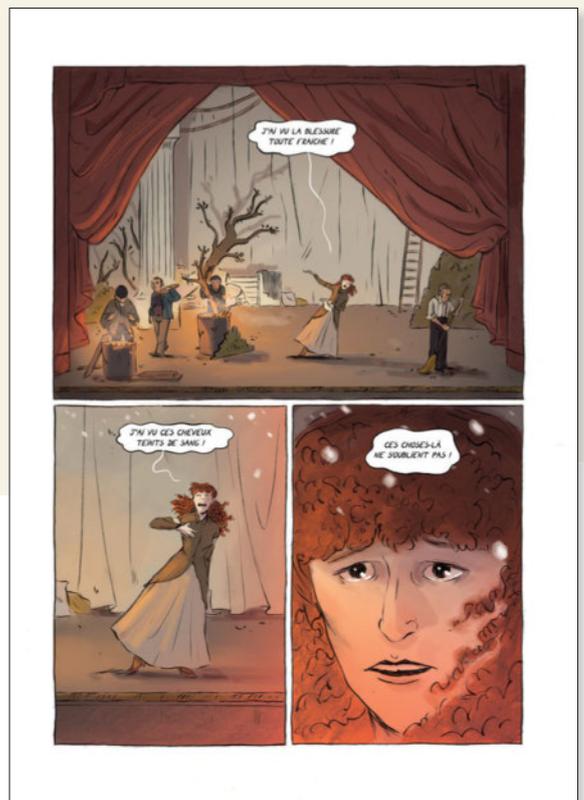

A biography of Sarah Bernhardt as free as the life of this extraordinary woman, considered the greatest tragedians of the 19th century.

Paris, 1871 : as life resumes with a semblance of normality after the Franco-Prussian conflict, Sarah must prove herself on the stage and perform in a play that will showcase the full range of her talent. After years of training and hard times, she is driven and ready to embark on a glorious career. The next nine years of her life, during which Sarah Bernhardt creates her own legend, works in the theater and is discovered at last, are explored in a book devoted to a romantic, modern character that takes her destiny in hand and turns traditions on their head.

Her incredible talent makes her a muse for Émile Zola, Edmond Rostand, Marcel Proust and Sacha Guitry, to name a few. Her fame transcends borders and she embarks on many successful international tours. She is also recognized for her bold positions as an actively engaged citizen: a feminist ahead of her time, she also campaigns against the death penalty and supports Zola in the Dreyfus Affair.

LE TRAVAIL M'A TUÉ

GREGORY MARDON / HUBERT PROLONGEAU / ARNAUD DELALANDE

A great fictional investigation into workplace malaise.

Based on an authentic story, the book traces the path of an automobile engineer who sees his life deteriorate as his professional career is undermined by a dehumanized hierarchy. After a lengthy investigation, the authors tell in a fiction, how a system of harassment is implemented, at all levels of the hierarchy, to push the employees to the maximum of their capacities... a system that pushes them sometimes, to the irreparable...

HOLLYWOOD MENTEUR

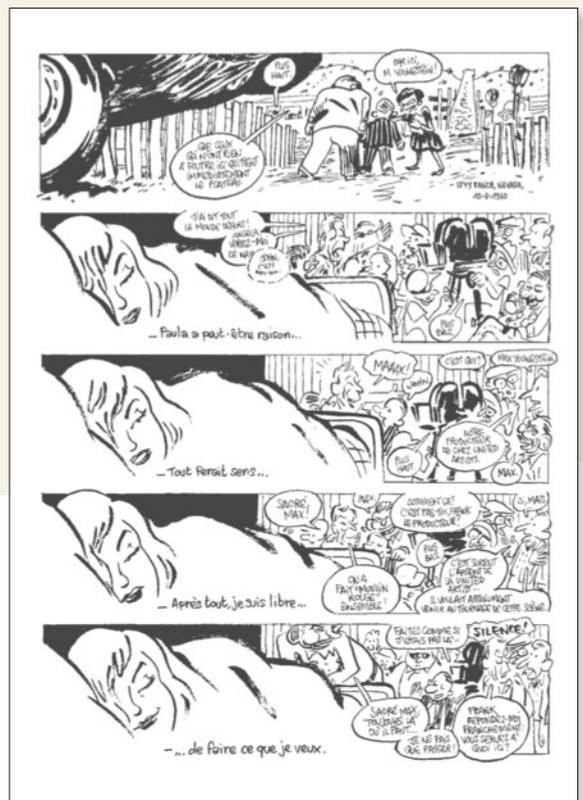

LUZ

Immersing himself in multiple writings and testimonies, Luz delivers a documented album on one of the biggest Hollywood movies of all time.

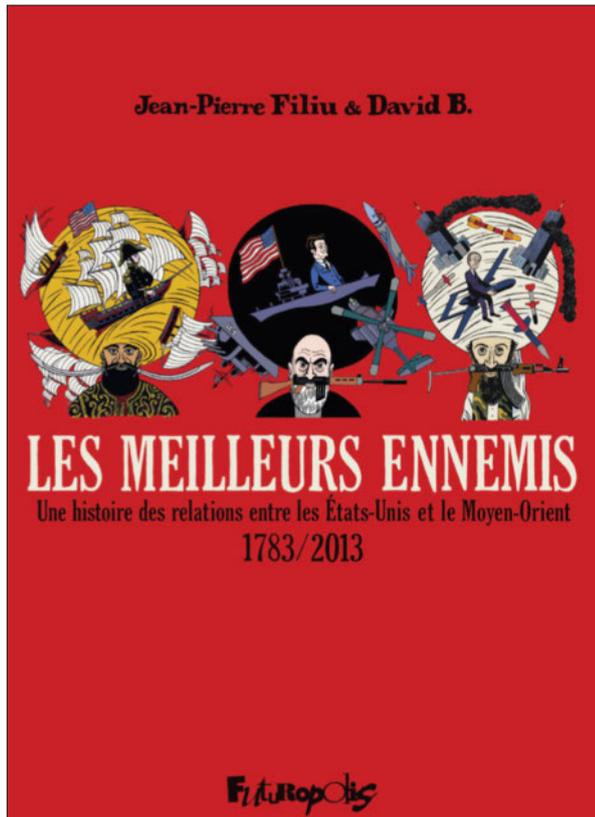

In 1960, John Huston shot in the heart of Nevada one of his most ambitious films, The Misfits with Marilyn Monroe, Clark Gable and Montgomery Clift. Written by Arthur Miller, Marilyn Monroe's husband, this feature was to be the setting for her to show what a huge and talented artist she was. Instead, tragedies accumulate the time of filming. But how could such an ambitious film combining Hollywood biggest stars be turned into a resounding failure on its way out? In this album, Luz dismantles the factory of the lie that is Hollywood by telling the backstage of the shooting of the mythical movie.

LES MEILLEURS ENNEMIS - INTÉGRALE

JEAN-PIERRE FILIU / DAVID B.

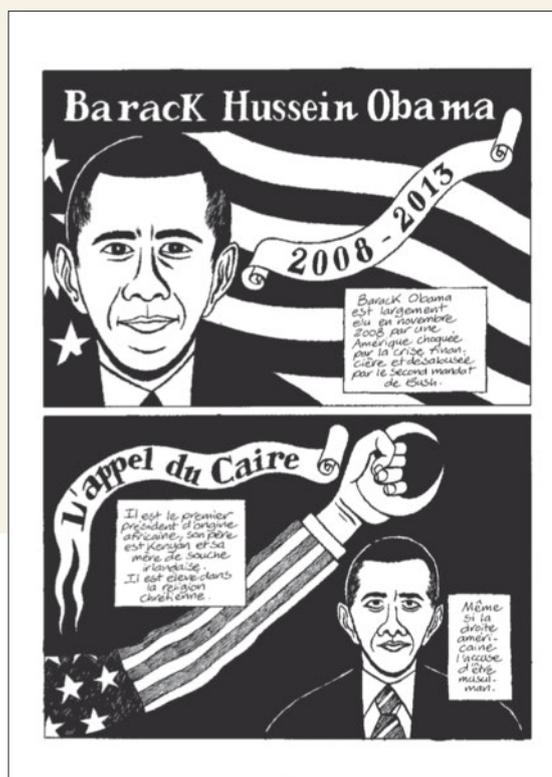

It was an American who first described the ‘Barbary lands of the Mediterranean basin as ‘the Middle East’ – a region by which America, ever since its own revolutionary foundation, has always measured its power. Acclaimed historian Jean-Pierre Filiu and award-winning artist David B. here tell the story of the blockades, broadsides and betrayals of this foreign affair – a wary co-dependency that, from the Epic of Gilgamesh to the Obama era, and from gold to oil, has continued to define our modern world.

A CONCISE AND ENGAGING GUIDE TO EVENTS THAT WERE CRUCIAL IN SHAPING OUR CURRENT POLITICS, FROM THE RISE OF POPULISM AND THE SO-CALLED ISLAMIC STATE TO THE GLOBAL REFUGEE CRISIS.

MÉCANIQUES DU FOUET - VIES DE SAINTE EUGÉNIE

CHRISTOPHE DABITCH / JORGE GONZÁLEZ

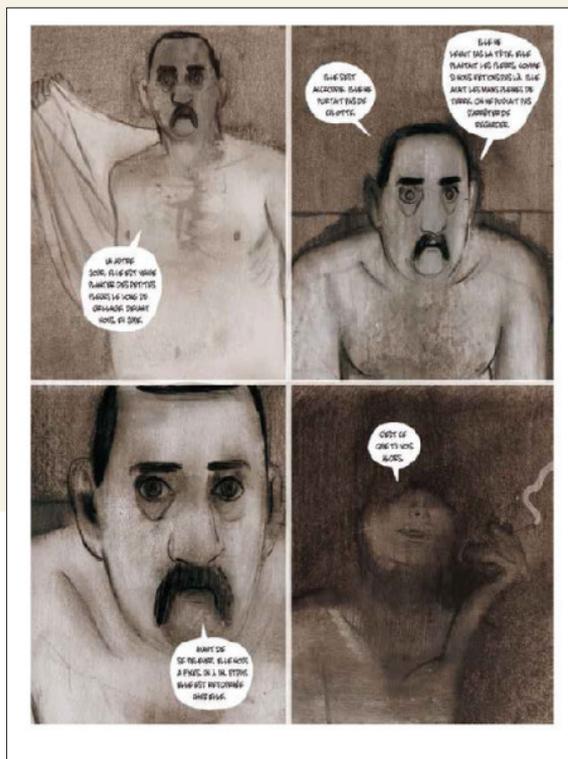

The sublime and disturbing biography of a 'mistress'.

Eugénie Guillou was a nun before becoming a specialist in spanking and sexual staging in the Paris of brothels and debauchery of the early 20th century. Disappeared and forgotten, Christophe Dabitch investigated her life and drew an intelligent and disturbing story, sublimated by the elegance of the drawing by Jorge Gonzalez.

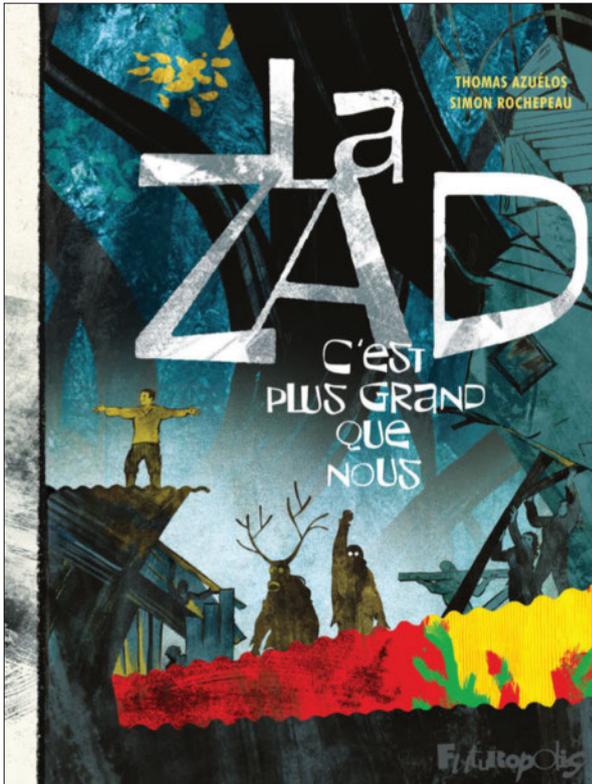

An authentic artistic prowess to classify alongside the erotic works of Aragon or Schiele.

LA ZAD C'EST PLUS GRAND QUE NOUS

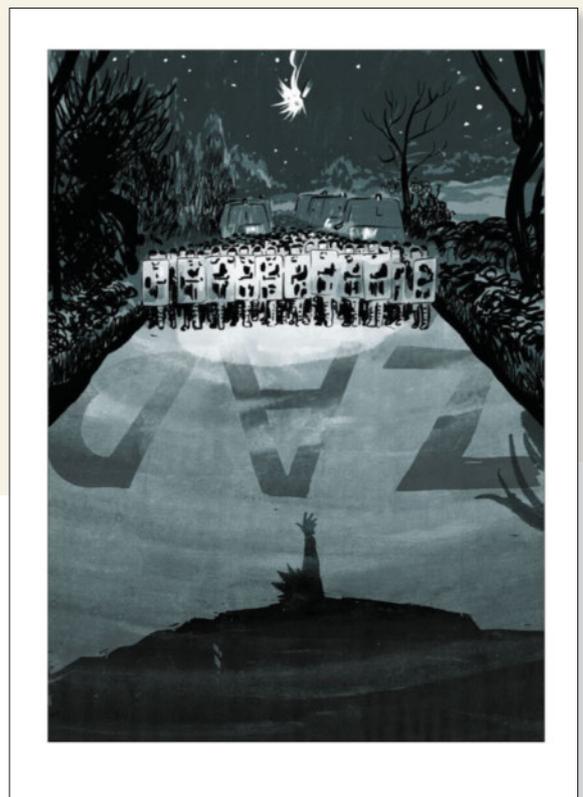

THOMAS AZUELOS / SIMON ROCHEPEAU

Who are the Zadists of Notre-Dame-des-Landes, really? What do they want? How do they live? After spending many weeks with them, the authors decided a documentary fiction would be the best way to depict the reality of life in the ZAD. 'ZAD' originally referred to a 'zone to be developed', but the acronym was repurposed by protesters to mean 'Zone to be Defended', often by citizen occupation preventing construction. The ZAD in question is on the site of Nantes proposed Grand Ouest airport. Thomas Azuelos and Simon Rochepeau pen a tale of struggle, beyond party lines and traditional movements, against capitalist land use and in favor of alternative lifestyles. The Zadists resist, organize as a group, and with the help of farmers who've also stayed behind, grow crops on wooded plots, dreaming of another way of life: 'We are an army of dreamers, men and women alike, and that is why we are invincible.'

UNE VIE - VOL. 4 SPANISH CIRCUS 1937

CHRISTIAN PERRISSIN / GUILLAUME MARTINEZ

After Martha Jane Canary and Kongo, the new historical and romantic biography of Perrissin.

Returning from Shanghai penniless, Winston Smith starts looking for work in London to discover that in this year 1926, the word 'unemployment' is on everyone's lips. He ends up cleaning dishes in a restaurant, 13 hours a day, for a pittance. Only the writing of his first novel La Nuit allows him to hold on. One day, he decides to meet again Meredith, a young woman from a good family with whom he had become acquainted during his return trip, with the cynical hope of making a beautiful marriage... The years go by, and the unexpected success of his novel pushes him to end his unhappy marriage. Being unable to write a second book, Winston sinks to the bottom. He will owe his salvation to George Orwell who will take him along to Barcelona in order to fight by the Spanish Republicans...

IL FALLAIT QUE JE VOUS LE DISE

AUDE MERMILLIOD

The meeting of the graphic novel illustrator Aude Mermilliod and the novelist Martin Winckler. Two voices to break the silence on a topic that is still taboo: abortion.

If it offers alternative, abortion remains no less a traumatic event in a woman's life. And all the more painful that we keep it for ourselves, that we do not know how to express the ambivalence of the feelings and representations that accompany it. Anxiety, guilt, loneliness, physical suffering, and most importantly the impossibility to share our experience. With this book, Aude Mermilliod breaks the silence, mixing her testimony as a patient with that of the physician Martin Winckler. Their two paths meet and answer each other in a book that is powerful, necessary and peaceful.

LES CROCODILES SONT TOUJOURS LÀ

JULIETTE BOUTANT / THOMAS MATHIEU

Testimonies of women about street harassment and ordinary sexism transposed into comics.

After a first volume published in 2014, Thomas Mathieu decides to revive the Crocodiles Project. This time he works with the author Juliette Boutant. In an otherwise black and white realistic environment, they represent stalkers in the form of fluorescent green crocodiles, a process that contributes to the force and the impact of the project. In this way, the authors invite readers to adopt the feminine point of view in order to raise awareness about the abnormality of some behaviors of men who assume the role of dominant predators.

An interesting and eye-opening book, more necessary than ever in the current context to change perceptions and behaviors and combat all forms of sexism.

ENFERME-MOI SI TU PEUX

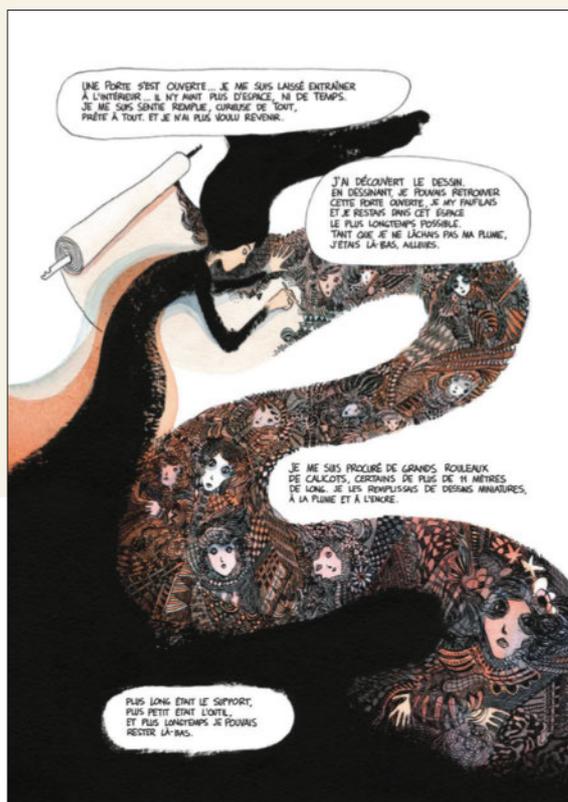

ANNE-CAROLINE PANDOLFO / TERKEL RISBJERG

Six amazing life stories that question the too rarely explored abilities of the human spirit.

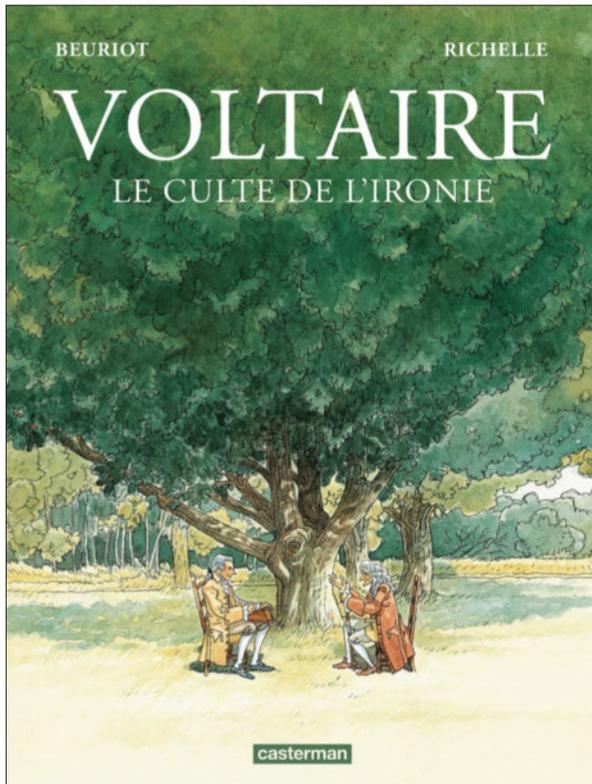

Between the end of the 19th century and the middle of the 20th century, women, the poor, the sick and the mad have no rights. Among them, Augustin Lesage, Madge Gill, the Facteur Cheval, Aloïse, Marjan Gruzewski and Judith Scott are locked up in a society that excludes them. They will, however, transform their lives into fabulous destinies. One day, from the bottom of their abyss, an irrepressible inspiration opens a door for them. Without culture, without artistic training, they magically enter a world of virtuoso creativity. Touched by grace or by a 'super power of the spirit,' they left us works that plunge us into an infinite mystery.

VOLTAIRE - LE CULTE DE L'IRONIE

BEURIOT / RICHELLE

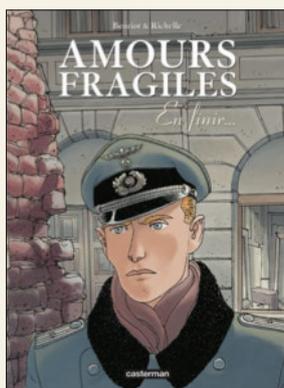

A nuanced and documented portrait of a major figure of the Enlightenment that still arouses controversy.

Château de Ferney, 1765, Voltaire receives his biographer. During interviews, he recounts important episodes of his career: childhood with the Jesuits, first emotions, discovery of writing, desire for social climbing, notoriety acquired by sulphurous pamphlets, imprisonment in the Bastille, exile in England, participation in The Encyclopedia... But while reflecting on the past, he's still attentive to his time, and particularly to the case of the knight of La Barre, a young man executed for crime against the Christ and against faith, for having degraded religious symbols. Scandalized, Voltaire will fight to rehabilitate his memory and save the 'accomplices' of the knight by awakening the consciences.

A COMME EIFFEL

MARTIN TRYSTRAM / XAVIER COSTE

What does the surprisingly smooth public life of Gustave Eiffel hide? We know his great works (his Tower, the structure of the Statue of Liberty, the Panama Canal...) but not the man. A paradoxical engineer (he practices magnetism, socializes with Victor Hugo and Freemasonry), Eiffel has a special relationship with women and particularly with his cousin Alice, whose initial will inspire the final shape of the Eiffel Tower.

Between historical reality and romantic approach, A comme Eiffel is the story of a modern Icarus: an ascent, a climax and an abyssal fall little known to the public.

MATTEO VOL. 5 (OCTOBRE 1936 - JANVIER 1939)

JEAN-PIERRE GIBRAT

In this fifth volume, the saga continues against the backdrop of the Spanish Civil War.

Matteo, a sophisticated tale that stretches across six time periods, tells of the singular destiny of a man who, from WWI to WWII, from the Russian Revolution to the Popular Front and the Spanish Civil War, lives through various troubled times and passionate love affairs.

In Alcetria, Matteo settles at the village land owner, Don Figueras. Despite the temperament and nationalistic convictions of the old man, Matteo begins to appreciate discussions with him. Gradually, a dialogue takes place, surprising, improbable, and that soon will lead to a revelation which Matteo was far from expecting.

HOLMES VOL. 5 - LE FRÈRE AÎNÉ

LUC BRUNSWIG / CECIL

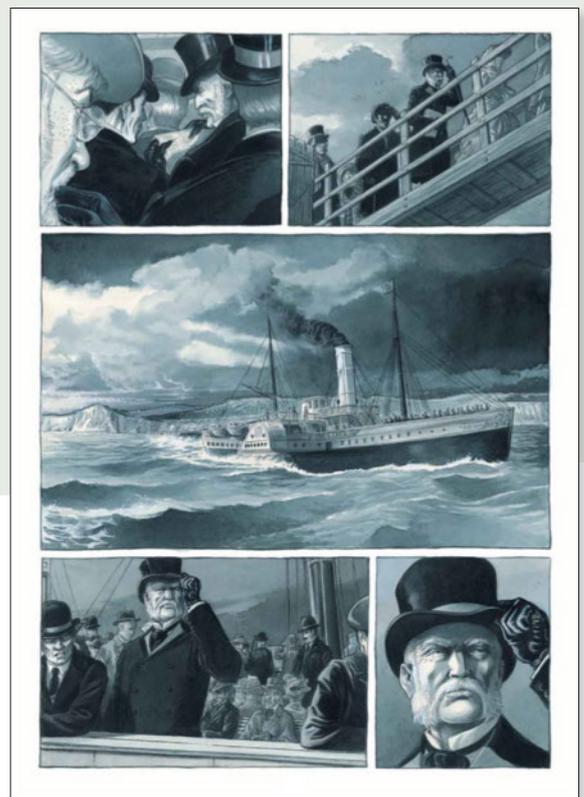

The saga that explores the origins of the myth.

On May 4, 1891 Sherlock Holmes perished in the Reichenbach Falls in Switzerland, dragging Professor Moriarty to his death along with him. For Mycroft, his brother, Holmes' death was really the suicide in disguise of a man who couldn't bring himself to watch his brain be destroyed by drugs. But despite the evidence, Dr. Watson refuses to believe this version of the facts. And so, he embarks on a journey across Europe in a breathless investigation in which he will find out everything about Sherlock and his family. Through the portrait of Sherlock's parents, Siger and Violet Holmes, as well as his charismatic brother Mycroft, the authors reveal the importance of this extraordinary family in the great upheavals of the history of the late 19th century.

NO WAR - VOL. 3

ANTHONY PASTOR

The Vukland is an archipelago of the North Atlantic – halfway between Ireland and the United States – whose colonization took place at the expense of the native people, the Kiviks. Their historic cradle, Saarok Island, still enjoys a certain autonomy, threatened by tensions with the government around the project of a large dam. Run is the son of divorced parents. His mother is the leader of the Kivik party, while his father is a successful entrepreneur in the energy sector. While the dead body of a dam engineer is found on Saarok, violent demonstrations erupt in the capital in reaction to the election of the new populist president.

LE TUEUR - AFFAIRE D'ÉTAT VOL. 1

JACAMON / MATZ

The Killer is recruited by French intelligence services and forced to work for them again.

When he was caught by the French secret services in Patagonia, the Killer only had two options: either cooperate or end up as a pile of bones picked clean by black vultures deep in the pampa. But opting to save one's own often involves compromise: a safe house in a provincial city, a cover as a dynamic executive, office life in all its glory. Urban French communities, however, turn out to be just as tough a landscape as the ones he was used to 'cleaning up' when he worked for himself...

LIBERTALIA - VOL. 3 LES CHEMINS DE L'ENFER

GRELLA / MIEL / FIGIÈRE

After they successfully founded the colony, Misson and Carracioli are now confronted to the organization of their 'free' community. However, the utopia mounts against the natural laziness of some, the violence of others and the resurgence of old habits, firmly anchored. Faced with external threats, will the libertarian project of the two men survive the ever more divergent visions of its two leaders?

LA GUERRE DES LULUS - VOL. 6 LUCIEN

RÉGIS HAUTIÈRE / HARDOC

Will the Lulus be reunited after they were separated when the war ended?

November 1918. The war is over, but the Lulus' struggle to stay alive goes on. Lying in a hospital bed in Troyes, Lucien remembers the day he arrived at the orphanage in Valencourt and first met the kids who would go on to become his best friends. Back then, the Great War hadn't ravaged Europe yet, and there were many moments of carefree joy. Yet pain, danger and humiliation were already part of the Lulus' daily life.

MÉDÉE - VOL. 4 LA CHAIR ET LE SANG

BLANDINE LE CALLET / NANCY PEÑA

A flamboyant, epic finale of a Greek myth as famous as tragic.

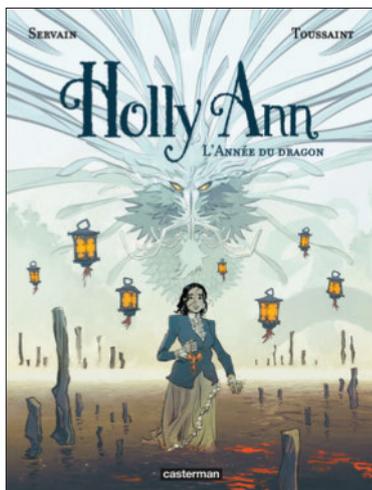

Who was Medea really? A loving mother and a lover assuming her desires, whom passion ends up astray? A free woman refusing the tyranny of men? A barbarian who has come to confuse the civilized world of the Greeks? A formidable witch, master of occult forces? A monster? To get to grips with this mystery, novelist Blandine Le Callet and illustrator Nancy Peña chose to give a voice to Medea herself: beyond slanders and distortions inflicted by time, Medea tells us her true story, from the lush gardens of her childhood in Colchis to the mysterious island from where she delivers her ultimate confession and purges forever the inhuman and unforgivable act of killing her two sons.

TOM TIRABOSCO

An initiatory journey that questions our future.

In a near future, in a world in chaos, where wild capitalism and climate disruption have upset the order of things, a young woman goes alone to join the rebellion. For that, she will have to make a long journey in a hostile nature.

Between Into the Wild and On the Road, Tom Tirabosco offers us an initiatory trip in the form of a fable, and wonders about our future and the evolution of our planet. Its black and white, smoky design immerse us into the heart of this majestic and wild nature.

SECONDE PARTIE DE CARRIÈRE

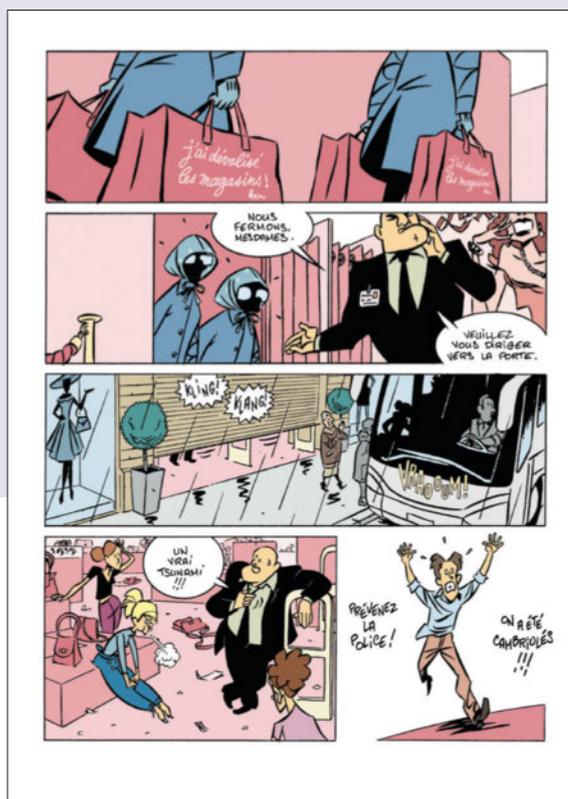

JEAN-PHILIPPE PEYRAUD / PHILIPPE PERIÉ

An explosive comedy about senile crime.

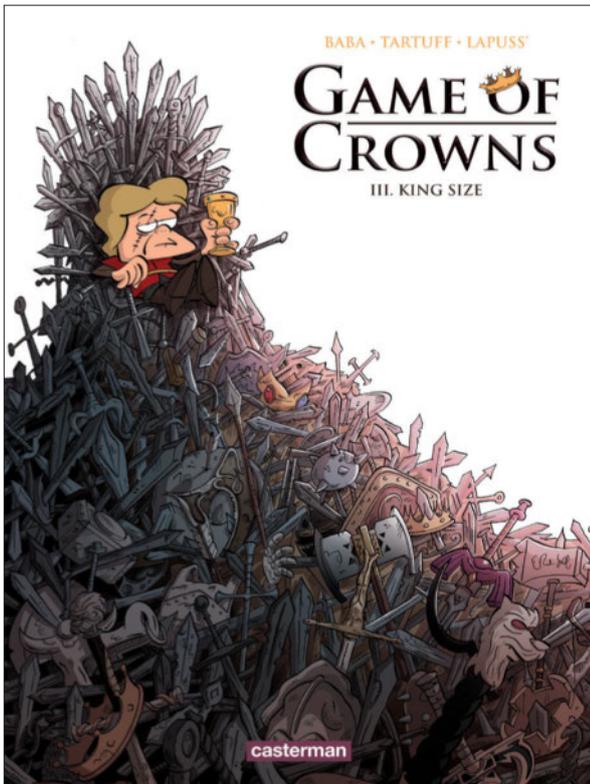

Camille, an inspector at the brigade for the repression of banditry, investigates the robbery of a luxury boutique in Paris's golden triangle. The M.O. is unusual, to say the least: the store's surveillance cameras show footage of the hold-up done by well-organized women robbers dressed up as old ladies, who use patients from an Alzheimer nursing home to create a diversion. While her teammates try in vain to activate the failing memory of the witnesses of the heist, Camille discovers that her own mother, Sonia, is the brains of the gang called 'granny gang.' To save the only family she has left, Camille decides to go behind her colleagues' back to protect an incorrigible mother who refuses to listen to reason and insists on carrying out more 'old-ups'!

LES COMBATTANTS

JEAN-MICHEL BILLIQUOD / NICOLAS ANDRÉ

Thirty struggles that have shaped the present day. A study of fifteen women and fifteen men who changed the world by defying authority and challenging convention.

Les combattants explores the most important ideological battles in history from the perspective of the people who led them – the men and women whose lifelong devotion to the unrelenting pursuit of a cause has helped to create a fairer and more just world.

Featuring Emile Zola, Simone Weil, Ghandi, Martin Luther King, Jane Goodall, Mother Teresa, Maria Montessori, Malala, Paul Watson and many more, Les combattants not only offers a series of biographical portraits of these key figures, but also showcases the causes they stood for and the status of these issues in the present day. Blending biography and graphic-novel storytelling, Les combattants' new narrative approach inspires children to find out more about a range of subjects that are vitally important in fostering an understanding of how our world works.

MARTIN LUTHER KING

CONTRE LA SÉGRÉGATION AUX ÉTATS-UNIS

Orateur exceptionnel, révolutionnaire pacifiste, ce pasteur ne supporte pas le sort indigne que son pays réserve au peuple noir. Militant non-violent, il dédie sa vie au combat contre la ségrégation et l'inégalité ethnique.

■ Fils et petit-fils de pasteur, Martin Luther King passe son enfance à Atlanta, la capitale de l'État de Géorgie. Dans cette ville comme dans tout le sud des États-Unis, la société est organisée selon le principe de la ségrégation.

LE CONTEXTE
Mise en place après l'abolition de l'esclavage (1865), la ségrégation interdit le mélange des « races » et maintient les Noirs en bas de l'échelle sociale. Tout est fait pour les humilier. Les Noirs ont beaucoup de difficultés pour faire des études, pour trouver du travail, pour s'élever socialement. Leur voix est rendue plus difficile par des contraintes administratives. Dans les bus, les sièges à l'avant sont réservés aux Blancs et ceux à l'arrière aux Noirs. Ces derniers ont aussi le droit de s'asseoir sur les rangées du milieu mais ils doivent céder leur place à un Blanc la demande.

■ Parfois, certaines avancées législatives sont votées mais elles ne sont pas respectées : la ségrégation est interdite dans les établissements d'enseignement depuis 1954 mais, au début des années 1960, il faut encore envoyer l'armée pour qu'un étudiant noir parvienne à assister aux cours de l'université du Mississippi.

■ Les Noirs américains ont le choix entre la frustration, qui entraîne parfois des révoltes violemment réprimées par la police, ou la soumission et l'acceptation de leur misère. Martin Luther King échappe à ces deux écueils : il est brillant, fait de bonnes études à l'université de Boston, dans le nord du pays, plus tolérant, et il devient pasteur en 1954.

■ Martin Luther King choisit de s'installer avec sa famille en Alabama, à Montgomery, malgré l'insupportable ségrégation qui y règne. Il veut être le porte-parole des opprimés. Le geste courageux d'une jeune couturière va lui permettre de mener son premier combat d'envoie-garde.

Le 1^{er} décembre 1955, dans un bus de Montgomery, Rosa Parks refuse de céder sa place et d'aller s'asseoir dans la zone réservée aux gens de couleur. Son geste scandalise les plus racistes, mais son arrestation provoque aussi une

LA BD QUI T'AIDE À AVOIR CONFIANCE EN TOI

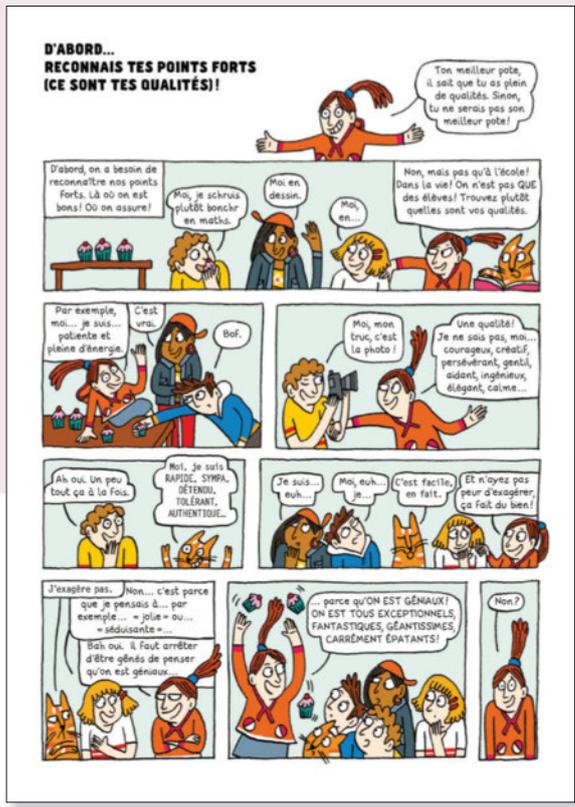

GÉRALDINE BINDI / ADRIENNE BARMAN

Or how to find the keys to self-love and self-confidence within you...

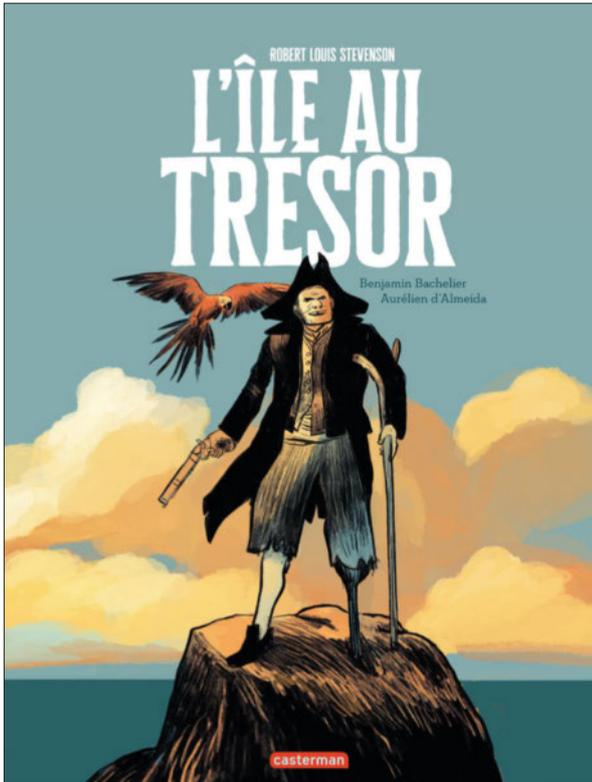

Even as adults, we can find it hard to recognize what we're best at, realise what we're capable of and know how we can develop our skills and abilities so that we ultimately feel good. Through the insights of five characters who are exploring the same concerns – the ever positive Gigi, rap-loving Sarah, skateboarding Tom, bashful Lise and photography-mad Charlie – readers learn how to understand themselves better, recognize their own needs and treat themselves with the kindness they deserve. Each chapter includes a 'Hints and Tips' section, a summary of traps to avoid and a list of experiences to try... As well as an entertaining contribution from Gigi's mouse-chasing and ever-so-slightly-mad cat Oscar!

L'ÎLE AU TRÉSOR

AURÉLIEN D'ALMEIDA / BENJAMIN BACHELIER BASED UPON THE NOVEL BY ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

A faithful retelling of a classic adventure novel that has left an indelible impression on the popular imagination.

Having taken possession of a treasure map after the elderly pirate who owns it dies, young Jim Hawkins recounts his perilous journey to a mysterious island. Along the way, he meets a colourful cast of characters, including the unforgettable Long John Silver, a pirate more than willing to double-cross anybody who stands in his way, and whose cunning and nerve Jim is forced to match if he hopes to leave with his life...

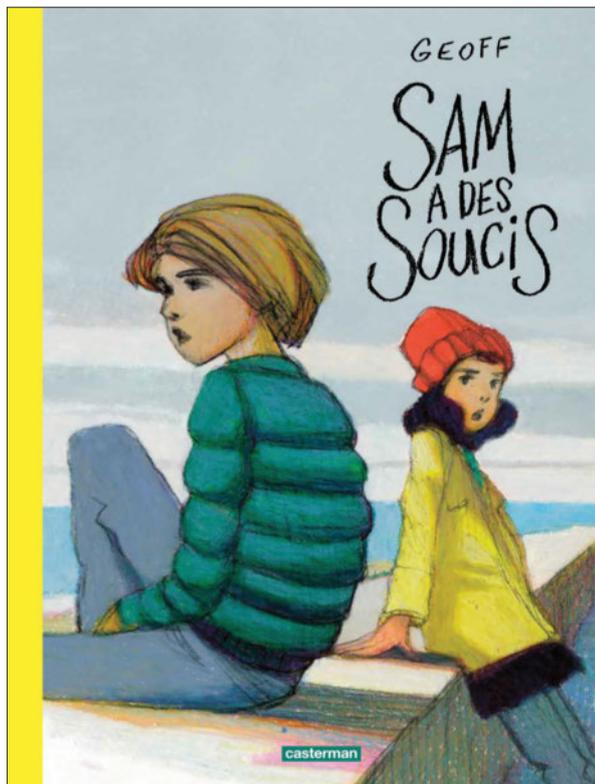

Benjamin Bachelier's bold and atmospheric illustrations form the perfect complement to this iconic tale of treacherous, lawless buccaneers.

SAM A DES SOUCIS

GEOFF

An accurate, touching and trans-generational look at childhood today.

First there was Lily, and now there's Sam. A shy member of the little gang that also includes Titouan and Joshua (Lily's twin brother and secret boyfriend, respectively), Sam unwittingly ends up in a wacky adventure. One day, as they're playing in one of their favorite places, the city dump, the boys find a gun: not a toy, but an actual gun... which leads them to come up with a very bad plan. Wearing makeshift soldier uniforms, they cause a car accident that Lily witnesses and that gives Sam the chance to be a hero... which threatens to make him more popular than Joshua at school. In this new story set in Bretagne, where we also get to see characters from Lily a des nenes, Geoff's preference for direct color is on display again, as is his fondness for children's adventures, i.e. stories in which grownup worries seem far away whereas little problems can take on unexpected proportions.

ZIBELINE - VOL. 1 SUR L'AUTRE RIVE

AOUAMRI / HAUTIERE / GODDYN

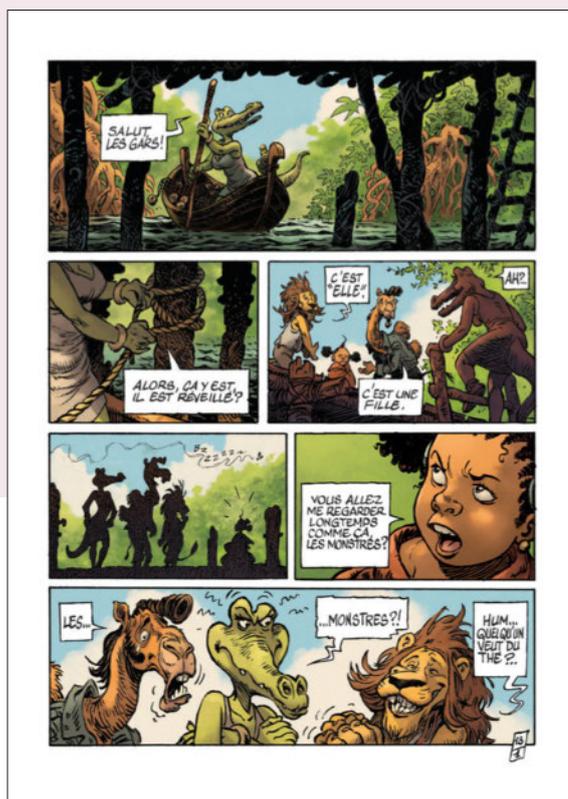

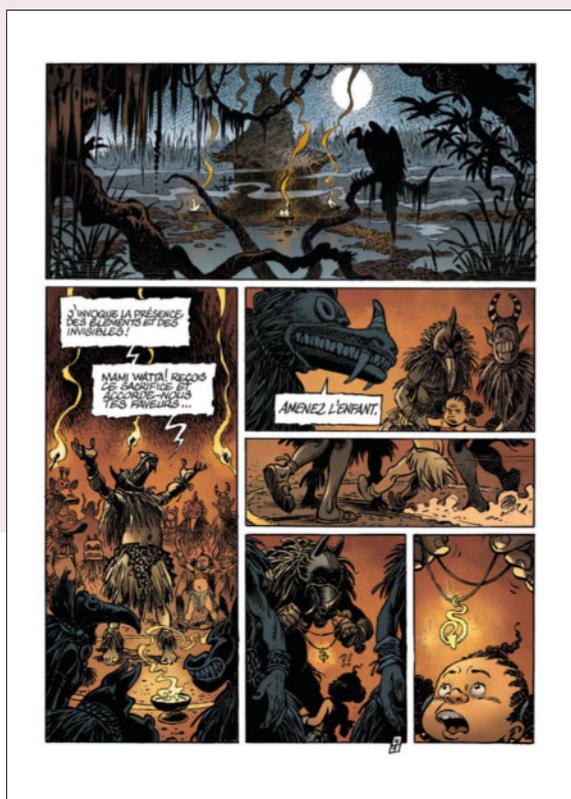

After an argument with her brother, the young Tannicia runs away into the jungle where she gets kidnapped by Voodoo wizards in search of a victim to perform a ceremony that requires a sacrifice. The little girl comes out unscathed but she is mysteriously catapulted into a world very different from the one she knows: a post-apocalyptic world inhabited by hybrid creatures, half-human, half-animal. There, she meets three benevolent humanized animals willing to help her. While waiting to find a way to return home, Tannicia resolves to settle in the mangrove with her new friends and, as the tradition requires, the first thing to do when arriving in this refuge is to choose a new name. It will be Zibeline...

LUCIEN ET LES MYSTÉRIEUX PHÉNOMÈNES - L'EMPREINTE DE H. PRICE

DELPHINE LE LAY / ALEXIS HORELLOU

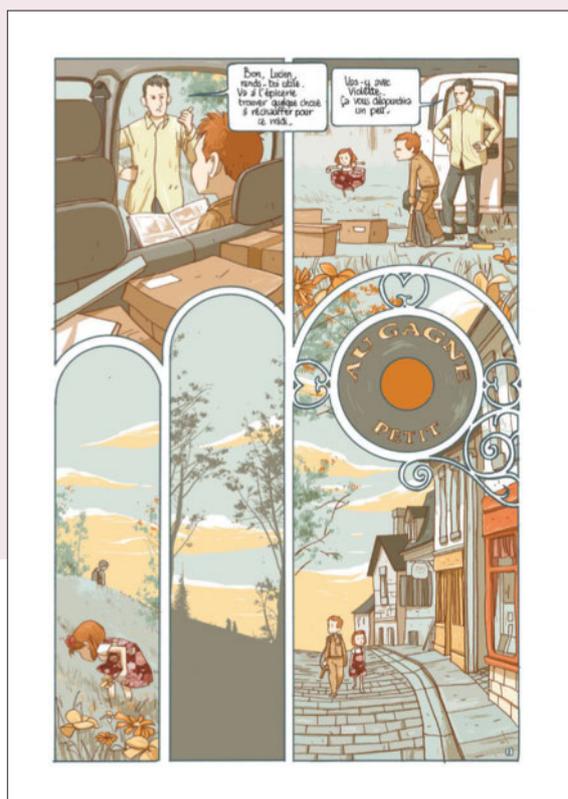

Lucien and his little sister Violette settle with their parents in a small village to lead a simpler life, far from the city and in contact with nature. Passionate about the ghost stories of the famous researcher Harry Price, Lucien takes up the challenge when the local children invite him to enter a manor house haunted by his owner, who is said to be buried standing in front of the sea. After a big fright, Lucien realizes that the ghost is actually alive! A secret that will allow him to discover the life that leads old Honoré, in total autonomy and in harmony with nature. But the secrets always end up being discovered, and Honoré's confrontation with the villagers will be fraught with consequences...

MOMO - VOL. 2

RONY HOTIN / JONATHAN GARNIER

The continued adventures of the delightfully endearing Momo...

Momo's grandmother has left and her dad's still far away on a fishing trip. Luckily for Momo, the whole village rallies around her. But Momo's fed up with people not revealing when her dad's coming back or where her grandma's gone. She doesn't need anyone to tell her what to do, though – she'll find them just fine on her own!

KONG-KONG - VOL.2 UN SINGE POUR LA VIE

VINCENT VILLEMINOT / YANN AUTRET

The further adventures of Héloïse, Abélard and their larger-than life best friend...

Héloïse and Abélard have become inseparable. Eager as ever to transform their humdrum existence into a magical adventure, they continue to dream up bold and imaginative ways of confronting the boredom that looms over them – from organizing stairwell races to holding philosophical discussions and arranging merciless battles. The gentle Kong-Kong is often by Héloïse and Abélard's side, and the friends soon discover that he's more sensitive than they thought..

The second volume in the Kong-Kong series incorporates all the ingredients that made the first instalment a bestseller – humour, absurdity and beautiful writing, alongside Héloïse and Abélard's sweet and engaging relationship.
